Standard: LITERARY RESPONSE AND ANALYSIS: Respond to texts from a range of stances; personal, interpretive, and critical.

Benchmark LA.8.3.2: Analyze text to draw inferences about history, culture, or gender.

Travel Tracer: When you are reading the book where characters move around a lot from place to place and the scenes change frequently, it is important for everyone in your group to know where things are happening and how the the setting may have changed. So that's your job: to track carefully where the action is taking place. Describe each setting in detail, either in words or a drawing (like comics with different boxes representing different scenes). Be sure to give the page location where the scene is described.

Describe or sketch the setting (you may use another sheet if needed).

Where today's action begins: Page and paragraph: _____

Where key events happened today: Page and paragraph: _____

Where today's events end: Page and paragraph: _____
